S4b note S4b	FHEQ STATEMENT	Please detail how the programme meets the relevant qualification descriptor from the Framework for Higher Education Qualifications (FHEQ)	The BA in American History enables students to develop specialised knowledge of the United States through study of its complex and multifaceted histories, and to engage with the ways in which national histories are written and produced, and how different social, cultural and ethnic groups and represented within those histories. Students are encouraged to think and work independently, to explore a range of historical methods, and to engage with debates at the forefront of humanities research. Students take a wide range of modules engaging with American history, and are taught discipline specific skills and methodologies via a variety of formative exercises and summative written assessment. Employability is built into the curriculum at every level via core and/or discipline specific modules, and employability events are also held. An important and distinctive feature of the 4-year degree course is the opportunity to live and study in the United States or Canada for a year, or to spend half of that year in Australia. Students gain first-hand experience of the culture they are studying, which not only enriches their academic studies but is also highly valued by employers.

S7 note S7	RELEVANT SUBJECT BENCHMARK STATEMENT(S) and details of how the Programme Specification aligns with these	The programme reflects the latest QAA subject benchmarking statement for History. The BA in American History equips students with the key critical skills identified by the benchmarking statement, namely the ability to read primary and other sources “both critically and empathetically”. The American History programme allows students to develop “the ability to ask and answer cogent and focused questions about the past and to pursue these questions through structured enquiry, selecting and interrogating an appropriate range of materials, including archival and historiographical sources of evidence” whose importance is outlined by the benchmark statement. A key feature of our programme is the year abroad, and the benchmark statement recognises the “desirability” of studying abroad, and the importance of this to employability. http://www.qaa.ac.uk/en/Publications/Documents/SBS-history-14.pdf

note S12

Focus your studies on the history of the United States and its people, its emergence as a world superpower and its influence on global culture.

Track the American story from Native American history, the Revolution and the world of enslaved communities in the Old South, through to the struggles of black Civil Rights activists and the crucial decisions of Presidents who, by the atomic age of the Cold War, held the fate of humanity in their hands.

As your studies progress you will be able to tailor your course to your interests, taking an in-depth look at your choice of major topics such as the CIA, the Supreme Court, the Civil Rights movement, the American city, and gender and popular culture in America.

You will have the option to spend your third year in the United States or Canada, with the possibility of a second semester in Australia or New Zealand. We currently have exchanges with over 40 North American universities, more than any other UK university. You will be able to choose from institutions in California, Vancouver, Philadelphia, Washington DC, New York State and more. Whilst abroad you will be able to choose from the range of modules on offer at your host university, pursue research for your final-year dissertation, and fully experience life in North America.

During your final year back at UEA, you can also take a long 'special subject' module in American history for which you can specialise in topics such as: American Slavery; Native American History; or the Cold War and American Society.

You will also write a research dissertation on a topic of your choice, supervised by a member of faculty in the Department of American Studies.

You will graduate with a unique understanding of how the world we live in today has been shaped by this young nation, the United States.

PS3 PROGRAMME COHERENCE AND FEEDBACK CYCLES		note PS3
PS3.1 learning progression
How will progression in terms of skills, knowledge and understanding be reflected in the programme between modules in any one year and across the years as students progress through their course of study?		note PS3.1
Modules in American History progress from introductory approaches and survey modules in the first year, through to establishing foundational knowledge and experiences increasing specialism in the second year and the year abroad, to an increased specialism through advanced and independent research in final year.
PS3.2 feedback cycle
Please explain how assessments and feedback / feed forward support the coherence of the programme. Comment on number and types of assessment, both formative and summative; the types and format of feedback students will receive; and their sequencing. How will assessments and feedback impact on subsequent modules?		note PS3.2
Every module contains formative and summative assessment, and tutor's feedforward and feedback—in seminars, in tutorials, and on written work—is integral to students' learning and progression through the course.

PS4	EXAMINATIONS		note PS4
	Written	Practical (e.g. OSCES and OSPES)
How many modules will include an exam element?	depends on modules taken – see course profile	0
How many hours of exams are there in Stage 0? (if applicable)
How many hours of exams are there in Stage 1?	depends on modules taken – see course profile	0

How many hours of exams are there in Stage 5? (if applicable)
How many hours does the programme (as a whole) include?

PS5	EQUALITY &amp; WIDENING PARTICIPATION		note PS5
PS5.1	How do the admissions criteria specifically for this course ensure equality of opportunity for all applicants?
	Applications to the programme are assessed in accordance with University equal opportunities regulations.
PS5.2	What steps have been taken to ensure an inclusive curriculum?
	The curriculum has been designed to engage with issues of gender, race, class and sexuality, and fostering inclusivity on the level of the curriculum is central to the ethos of the programme.
PS5.3	In what ways do learning and teaching and assessment methods ensure inclusivity, reasonable adjustment and equality of opportunity?
	All learning, teaching and assessment is conducted in accordance with University equal opportunities regulations.

PS6	EMPLOYABILITY	note PS6
	How is employability embedded into the delivery of the course?

	Employability is embedded into the course in non-modular employability events, through employability-focused meetings with academic advisers, and is built into the design and delivery of modules at every level.
