

LTC16D094

Title: Programme for Learning and Teaching Day 2017
Author: Amanda Giles, Head of CSED
Date: 1 March 2017
Circulation: LTC – 15 March 2017
Agenda: LTC16A004
Version: Draft
Status: Open

---

Issue

The next UEA Learning and Teaching Day (L&T Day) will take place on 18 May 2017 under the title 'Outside in: The World in the University. How external factors influence our teaching.' The programme for the Day is almost finalised and available for LTC members to view.

Recommendation

LTC members are asked to receive the (draft) programme for L&T Day 2017.

Resource Implications

The Day is financed by CSED plus a supporting grant from LTS.

Risk Implications

N/A

Equality and Diversity

N/A – Attendance at L&T Day is open to all UEA staff and students.

Timing of decisions

N/A

Further Information

Amanda Giles, 01603 593699, amanda.giles@uea.ac.uk [

Background

The next UEA Learning and Teaching Day (L&T Day) will take place on 18 May 2017 under the title 'Outside in: The World in the University. How external factors influence our teaching.' L&T Day showcases the range of teaching at UEA and encourages dialogue and enquiry. This year's theme speaks to the ways in which teaching within the academy is influenced by external factors. How is teaching shaped and informed by the wider context in which it sits? How does teaching and learning have an impact on contemporary society, business and the workplace? What new developments do we see on the horizon?