

LIBRARY SEARCH

We have designed Library Search to be the best starting point possible for your research. It will return results containing academic books, ebooks and journal articles, as well as CDs, DVDs, conference proceedings, theses and reference works.

If you want to go into a bit more depth, you should also try using the 'Find E-Journals' and 'Find Databases' options from the top bar – the rest of this guide explains how to do that.

Access more library services, including your Library Account, from the top bar.

Library Search works like Google – so it will assume an 'and' in between each search term. You can use quotation marks to search for a phrase, e.g. "physical education" or try using Advanced Search.

FIND E-JOURNALS >

Use the A-Z of e-journals to find out if we have a journal available online, and which years you can access. This can be very useful if you are looking for a specific journal article, for example:

Evans, T. (2013) Organisational rules and discretion in adult social work. British Journal of Social Work, 43(4), 739-758.

1. Enter the journal title in the search box. From our example this is British Journal of Social Work. Click 'Go'.

About SFX: SFX is software used by the Library to link search results to our electronic or print subscriptions. You will notice it pop-up in lots of different databases to help link you to full text. You can also set it to work in Google Scholar! Just go to 'Settings', then select 'Library Links' from the left-hand menu, add UEA and click 'save'.

Tip: Note that we may have the same journal from different providers, and that coverage dates may vary. Make sure you choose a provider that gives access to the date you need.

2. Click on the journal title or SFX link to view options for reading articles from this journal. The icon means this journal is peer-reviewed.

3. In the window that appears, click on GO to link to the journal site (don't bother filling in the year, volume, issue boxes – it doesn't work very well).

Tip: If the year you need isn't available electronically, remember to check and see if it is in print in the library.

Now you need to look at your journal article reference again:

Evans, T. (2013) Organisational rules and discretion in adult social work. British Journal of Social Work, 43(4), 739-758.

FIND DATABASES

Searching Library Search is a great starting place to find journal articles. If you want to access other databases to search beyond Library Search, or if you want to access a specific resource, use the 'Find Databases' option to generate a list of resources for your subject. These are some of the useful resources for Social Work:

- Applied Social Sciences Index and Abstracts (ASSIA) is a journal article index covering social services, psychology, sociology, economics, politics, race relations and education.
- PsycINFO® is an expansive abstracting and indexing database with more than 3 million records devoted to peer-reviewed literature in the behavioural sciences and mental health. Full text of all APA journals is available through this database.
- Social Care Online is produced by the Social Care Institute for Excellence (SCIE) and is the UK's largest database of information on all aspects of social care and social work.
- Taylor & Francis Online provides access to a wide range of journal articles in full text, as well as providing an abstract and indexing service for many more journals and ebooks.
- Westlaw contains up-to-date legislation, case law and academic journal articles.
